

Board Matters

Number 51. Our update for members about the activities of the Board and governance of the English Folk Dance and Song Society. Issued with EDS magazine, Winter 2022.

From the Chair

You have probably already read about Arts Council England's funding decisions for 2023–26. Suffice it to say here that we are very disappointed that the folk arts have been hit with a cut. By our reckoning, government funding dedicated to folk music and dance was already tiny at £1 out of every £760 disbursed by Arts Council England; next year it will be £1 in £1116.

We believe in championing folk music and dance at the heart of England's rich and diverse cultural landscape. We are engaging with the Arts Council as we try to understand how they, and the government itself, view the future of the folk arts in England.

We are absolutely determined that our own funding reduction of £140,000 a year will not significantly affect the Society's core activities.

For example, we have just announced five mini grants of £500 to support individuals and groups/organisations in developing their folk dance activities. Jo Veal will develop a magical evening of folk dance, with music and shadow puppetry for the diverse population of South Yorkshire; Kekezza will focus on engaging more people in Cornish dance; Elizabeth Lawson will teach The Morpeth Rant to her local communities; Jo Clare will bring together primary school children and over 60s to learn and perform folk dances together in Greenwich; and the culturally diverse Movema, who organise events in the most deprived areas of Liverpool and Bristol, will share dances with all-female morris dancing side Boss Morris.

Our annual Library Lectures will go ahead as planned in the spring, at Cecil Sharp House and online.

We have just announced the National Youth Folk Ensemble's first performance in their latest iteration – at Sunderland's The Fire Station on 23 February – followed by Cecil Sharp House in April and the North East and Yorkshire for festival season.

But we do need to find savings wherever we can, and we are currently assessing all of our activities with the aim of trimming costs. We also need to make more money wherever commercial opportunities arise – starting with maximising the revenue-raising potential of Cecil Sharp House, so venue hire income can support more of our activities throughout England.

Another area which we have identified for immediate development is our membership categories. We feel that there is scope to entice a new cohort of people to join, with the twin benefits of improving our balance sheet at the same time as engaging these people more closely with the folk arts and with the Society. So on the following page you will find notification of an Extraordinary General Meeting on 14 January. We have not delayed in calling this EGM as we want to start raising much-needed income through membership as soon as we can.

The proposed changes are in two parts:

— To increase the age for our Young People membership from 25 to 30.

— To introduce a new Starter membership, which will be priced at a modest £24 a year (or £2 per month). Starter members will not receive EDS or FMJ; they will not be eligible to benefit from the Charity's Public Liability Insurance; and they will not typically be entitled to other services which may be offered to full members. Starter Membership can therefore be classified as a charitable donation, and the Society will be able to claim Gift Aid on these payments.

See page 5 of the enclosed EDS Magazine for more information about these proposals. We have a substantial funding gap to fill, but our work is needed more than ever. We hope that the new Starter memberships will some way towards enabling us to continue and indeed expand on our activities.

Finally, I must pay my own brief tribute here to Paul Sartin, who amongst many achievements over his 51 years received an EFDSS 75th Anniversary Award in 2007. He will be missed by so many.

Lorna Aizlewood, Chair
