

Licence to Publish: Folk Music Journal

*In order to publish your article we need your agreement in writing.
Please take a moment to read the terms of this licence, sign the form and return it to us as quickly as possible.*

Title of Article

Name(s) of Author(s)

Name of Copyright Owner, if not Author(s)
Address of Copyright Owner

- 1. By signing this form, you (the author(s) or other copyright owner) agree to grant to us (English Folk Dance and Song Society, the publisher) the exclusive right (subject to the exceptions listed in section 5 of this licence) for the duration of the respective copyrights involved both to reproduce and/or distribute your article (including the abstract) ourselves throughout the world in printed, electronic or any other medium, and in turn to authorise others (including Reproduction Rights Organisations such as the Copyright Licensing Agency and the Copyright Clearance Center) to do the same. You agree that we may publish your article in Folk Music Journal, and that we may sell or distribute it within the journal, on its own, or with other related material.
- 2. You promise that the article is your original work, has not previously been published, and is not currently under consideration by another journal. If it contains material which is someone else's copyright, you promise that you have obtained the necessary permission of the copyright owner (please attach evidence of this) and that the material is clearly identified and acknowledged within the text. You also promise that the article does not, to the best of your knowledge, contain anything which is libellous, illegal, or infringes anyone's copyright or other rights.
- 3. You assert your Moral Right to be identified as the author(s), and we promise that we will respect your rights as the author(s). That is, we will make sure that your name(s) is/are always clearly associated with the article and, while you do allow us to make necessary editorial changes, we will not make any substantial alteration to your article without consulting you.
- 4. Copyright remains yours, and we will acknowledge this in the copyright line which appears on your article. However, you authorise us to act on your behalf at our discretion to defend your copyright if anyone should infringe it by use of material originally lawfully published or authorised by us, and to retain half of any damages awarded, after deducting our costs.
- 5. You also retain the right to use your own article (provided you acknowledge the published original in standard bibliographic citation form) in the following ways, as long as you do not sell it or give it away in ways which would conflict directly with our commercial business interests. You are free to use your article in spoken presentations; to use it for the internal educational or other purposes of your own institution or company; to mount it on your own or your institution's website; and once twelve months have elapsed from publication by us, to post it to free public servers of articles in your subject area; or to use it in whole or in part as the basis for your own further publications.
- 6. This agreement lapses if we do not publish your article within three years from the end of the year in which we accept your article for publication.

7. You and your personal representatives will indemnify us against all losses costs damages and expenses arising because of a breach by you of this Licence.

8. This Licence is governed by the laws of England and all parties shall submit to the jurisdiction of the English courts.

Signature(s) of Author(s)

Date

Date

Date

Date

Note: every named author must sign this form, one copy of it

Signature of Copyright Owner, if different

Date

Please return this form by post or fax to the Editor at the address as given on the letter accompanying this form, or to The Editor, Folk Music Journal, English Folk Dance and Song Society, Cecil Sharp House, 2 Regent's Park Road, London NW1 7AY